June 2023 Newsletter

"The Drifter"

"Our mission is to promote in Oregon an RV/Camping organization that creates friendships and education for members as well as goodwill and charitable experiences in our communities."

Hello everyone,

We are sending out June's Drifter a little early, so that those that haven't registered for the ORCA Rally in Rickreall on June 7-11 will be reminded to get it in before it's too late! It will also give those of you who are attending a chance to go over the schedule so that you can pick and choose what events you'd like to be involved in. We will have sign-up sheets at the registration table for games and events, so please look for those. Our Executive Board member, Connie Morrill, has been newly ordained and will provide the ministry service for our Silver and Golden Wed vow renewal ceremony, and we appreciate her willingness to do this for us!

I am hopeful that Bill and I can stay out of the Dallas hospital this time. Hahaha! As you may recall, I was rushed to the hospital via Uber in the middle of the night with an excruciatingly painful kidney stone (I was alone and didn't want to unhook the RV), and Bill injured his shoulder "showing off" by sliding into a base playing bean bag baseball on the concrete floor.

Please remember also that all chapter Presidents (or a designated alternate) are requested to attend our State Meeting on Wednesday, June 7th at 4 pm at the rally. There are three proposals that need to be voted upon and your attendance is imperative.

We look forward to seeing everyone at the rally!

RV Safety Tips For Women Traveling Alone

Bad things can happen anywhere, even when traveling with a man, whether at home or on the road. The best thing you can do is be prepared and always trust your instincts!

1. Always let someone know where you'll be and check in with them regularly.
2. Carry the proper equipment, such as:
  - Cellular boosters for remote areas
  - Cell phones, laptops, Nomad Air Travel Internet, etc.
  - Emergency GPS tracker if you're going very remote.
  - Bear spray
3. Don't go too far off the well-beaten path.
4. Women can invest in a large pair of men's work boots to leave by the door to act as a deterrent.
5. Travel with a dog.
6. Check-in with the camp host (if there is one).
7. Make friends with the neighbors if they look like reputable people.
8. Research the area you'll be in.
9. Always lock your doors.
10. Carry some sort of protection – even mace or an audible alarm - unpredictable wildlife are just as much of a threat as other humans.
11. Remain aware of your surroundings and know when to leave!
12. Keep the keys in an easy-to-access area when you go to bed.
13. If someone asks if you are traveling alone, say you are on your way to meet a spouse, relative or friend.
14. Consider a membership to a roadside assistance company such as AARP or AAA.

To Barbara and Bill Taylor,

I'm sorry to say the chapter of the Polk About Sam's out of Dallas, Oregon, voted to disband at last meeting in March 2023.

The chapter was chartered by the Clausen's, Nelson's and Hillerbrand's. Clausen's actually got the chapter started. Original number of rigs was approximately 25, ending in about 4 to 5 active in 2023.

History notes this chapter won 'Top Donations' for Dogs For The Deaf in the nation approximately 6 times and a couple 2nd and 3rd times, 8 in all.

Brag flags at Samboree was won at least 4 times for participation during the Swanson, Kundert, and Lingle's reign.

Money in the treasury was raised over ten years by picking and selling walnuts, hot dogs, and ice cream sales at rallies.

Charity items included canned good donations, Veterans Home in Roseburg, various Food Banks, Dogs For The Blind, and various other organizations.

The club has voted to donate our checking account treasury balance to the ORCA State organization to help them continue to provide camping and RV'ing experiences for younger members who are continuing on.

So many fun, wonderful times were had by all, and friendships that will last a lifetime.

Thanks for the memories. From all of us "ex" Polk About Sam members

TIPS FOR RV BEGINNERS

A lot of cooking in your RV oven will be done through trial and error. Just know you might have some disasters and that's OK. It's a good idea to have a backup plan in case dinner has to be thrown in the trash.

1. Preheat your oven. Although it feels like a waste of propane, take the few extra minutes and preheat your oven. It's important to have your oven at the right temperature so the food cooks more efficiently.

2. Use an Oven Thermometer. There is absolutely no way for you to know if your oven is actually at the right temperature without using an oven thermometer. RV oven temps on the dial are not to be trusted!

3. Use a baking stone. Place a baking stone on the bottom rack to disperse the heat. If your muffins are burnt on top and the insides didn't get done, this should solve the problem.

4. Use the Right Size Bakeware. RV ovens are small! Round up the bakeware you want to bring with you and see if they fit. Why bring a heavy, oversized dish with you that ends up being useless?

5. Raise the Wire Rack Higher. Unless you like the bottoms of your food blackened, you'll find that the middle section is just about right.

6. Rotate your dish halfway through cooking time. Some people have found that one side of their oven cooks hotter than the other. This alleviates the problem.

7. Make Sure Your RV Is Level. If your muffins or cake come out sloped, you'll know why. They'll still taste fine, but will just look funny.

8. Know That Cooking Times Will Be Different. Your RV oven will either cook slower or faster than the oven in your stationary home. Keeping notes with cooking times for each dish previously made in your RV oven helps to alleviate any stress and problems when baking.

9. Make Sure You Have Propane. I know, duh, right? But when you're first starting out, you're not used to keeping an eye on things like your propane levels.

Additional tip: If you have a favorite bread recipe (such as cinnamon raisin), instead of baking it in a loaf pan which takes about an hour (and uses tons of propane), make it into muffins which only takes minutes.

TAYLOR'S TIPS

1. If you've ever broken drinking glasses while traveling, this one is for you. Slide koozies over them and place them back in the cabinet to keep them nice and safe.

2. Protect your wine bottles while enroute with mesh sleeves. If they knock together, they won't break.

3. To save space, use a collapsible laundry basket as a wastebasket when camping. They can be collapsed between uses and stored out of the way.

4. Most people realize the benefit of keeping duct tape in their rig, but what about clothespins? They can be used for laundry, chip clips, and even securing trash bags.

5. Keep some clotheslines handy as well. You can use it to assist with laundry, hang wet towels and swimsuits, and tie cabinets closed when in transit.

6. Another option to keep cabinets closed, while traveling, is to secure them with bungee straps. The 3-inch loops with a ball end are useful for cabinet doors, and the ones with hooks on the ends are great for drawer handles.

7. Dry erase boards have many uses. Magnetic ones can be hung on the refrigerator. Along with emergency information, you can post a checklist of things to do before heading out, a grocery list, or the Wi-Fi password.

8. If you have a travel trailer or fifth wheel without electric stabilizer jacks, then you are familiar with the chore of hand cranking them up and down. An easy solution is to use a rechargeable cordless drill. Simply attach a socket extension that fits your stabilizer jacks. Plug the socket into the jacks and let the drill do all the work.

9. When leaving your rig for the day, turn off your water supply if you're using your pressurized city water connection, and if you're using your freshwater tank, turn off the water pump. Should you spring a water leak while you're gone, both of these could save you a lot of damage.

10. Propane attracts wasps. Place cut up flea collars in compartments to avoid wasp infestations.

11. Although many campgrounds do provide wireless Internet, the signal is not always strong. Improve the Wi-Fi reception in your RV with a booster.

12. Most RVs already have AC and a ceiling fan, but you'll be glad to have something portable on extra hot days. Place a portable fan anywhere in your RV to create better air circulation.

13. Use Silica Packets. Place these in tough spots that don't get enough ventilation to keep your RV free of moisture and reduce the risk for mold or mildew.

CHAPTER NEWS

The Weekenders had six rigs attend their chapter camp-out at Champoeg State Park, May 11-14 (including two new couples) and enjoyed a wonderful weekend of sun. At their Saturday potluck, they had three additional people who came to spend time with the group.
